

Leading For Good

Andrew Wallis

Andrew Wallis is the founding CEO of the anti-slavery organization Unseen. Unseen provides safe housing and other services for survivors of trafficking, runs the Modern Slavery Helpline, and works with businesses and others toward eradicating modern slavery.

Andrew chaired the landmark Centre for Social Justice report 'It Happens Here,' widely acknowledged as the catalyst for the UK Modern Slavery Act of 2015, advising on its development. He was awarded an OBE that year for his work combatting human trafficking. The job has presented him with challenges as diverse as building flat-pack furniture for Unseen's first safe house to advising global businesses on how to address slavery in supply chains.

He is 'the loveliest disrupter you could hope to meet.'
